

I woke this morning alone wandering what time you left wondering if you were ever here at all The cold wind whistles as I roll to hold you Your touch has changed from a body of warm comfort to a pillow of cold remorse Now I walk this world a different way not looking for something that is no longer there Not wondering when we will meet again what time it will be or where Now I walk this world with one notion in mind where do I go and when will I arrive not caring if I am alone not caring if I am alive Just filling my time to keep you out of my head and off of my mind Giving me something to do Now that I am alone Now that I am without you somewhere in the distance a thought will cross my mind a relationship will come to an end and your memories will pass the time the smile on your face or that look in your eyes it doesn't matter what you do i'm always going to try my gift was the world i gave it as i could i wanted to give you more i thought you knew i would our love was so special to me, it will never die

 it doesn't matter what you do i'll save a tear for you, when i cry

YOU ARE THE ONE NO ONE ELSE WILL EVER DO ANYONE CAN FILL THE SPACE BUT THEY WILL NEVER BE YOU