

*Traveling down a dark path with no destination in mind My only direction is the dotted white lines under me Here I sit at the controls of my world Where everything I do is my decision
I can censor or play whatever I want to hear I can control the climate and the feel of the air I pick the destination where I want to go For I am the one who runs this show
I decide who comes or stays
I decide what games to play
The only laws that govern me are my speed and driving ability Once my destination arrives and I exit that door I realize that I will not be god of my world anymore
For now I am just a little boy
In this world...
I am just someone else's toy*
